TORONTO TIDINGS.

Miss Ada James was among those who attended our Valentine Social on February 12th.

Friends to the number of a dozen or so, gathered at the home of Mrs. F. E. Doyle, on the quiet, on the afternoon of February 14th, and surprised her by presenting her with a beautiful Boston bag on the occasion of her natal day. Mrs. Frank E. Harris and Mrs. Neil A. McGillivray got up this treat.

The Valentine Social, given by the Ladies' Aid Society at our church on February 12th, was a successful treat. A large crowd favored it with their presence and came in costume.

Miss Maude McKee won first prize in the ladies' class, while little Esther Mackay and Ruth Byrne won the children's prizes. Nearly $22.00 was cleared that evening.

Mrs. William Hazlitt and little son, and Miss Evelyn Hazlitt, have returned home after their fortnight's sojourn with relatives and friends in Ottawa.

Mrs. Andrew S. Waggoner, of Hamilton, came up on February 15th. She remained over with Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Byrne, and before going home on the noon train next day, gave Mr. John T. Shilton a business call.

Mr. Walter Bell came up from Oshtemo, on February 19th, to see his family, and next day gave a masterly sermon at our church, taking for his subject "Christ, the Teacher from God." Mrs. Henry Whealy rendered the usual hymn in her seasoned style.

Mr. and Mrs. John Dean, of Nobleton, has returned home, after a few days' visit here with Mrs. J. H. Mason and other friends.

Owing to the illness of his wife, Mr. Arthur H. Jaffray was unable to go up to Aurora on February 20th, to lead the services for our deaf friends there, so Mr. J. R. Byrne went instead, while Mr. Colin McLean took Mr. Byrne's place at London.

A number of our friends got together and journeyed out to Birch Cliffe, on February 19th, and gave Mr. and Mrs. Lionel Bell a surprise party. All had a good time.

Miss Helen A. Middleton, of Horn- ing Mills, arrived in the city on February 23d, and spent a few days at "Mora Glen," leaving again on February 28th, for a visit to her friend, Miss Sylvia Caswell, at Niagara Falls, Ont.

The Bridgen Club met again on February 19th, and a fairly good crowd was on hand. As Chairman Roberts was still indisposed, Mr. Charles A. Elliott occupied the chair, and first invited Mr. Colin McLean to give his lecture on "The Living Forest," by that well-known author, Fleming. For one hour and a half Mr. McLean held the audience in a merry mood as he went on with his interesting story, which he would occasionally punctuate with bits of humor, and was heartily thanked at the close. Next came the series of four reels of movies, which was a treat to all, free of charge, from Mr. Charles A. Elliott. The slides gave an idea of the mammoth construction work of the famous Welland Canal, and the comedy was "Dolly Does Her Bit." Several of those present gave short amusing anecdotes between the slides. Mr. Elliott was thanked for such a treat.

Mr. Frank E. Harris was the speaker at our Epworth League meeting.

Miss Marion Powell has returned from her visit to friends in Ottawa, reporting a good time.

ST. THOMAS SIFTINGS.

Mr. W. J. Smalldon has moved his place of abode to St. George Street North, just outside the city limits, in Yarmouth Township, but still runs his shoe repair shop on William Street, and has many satisfied customers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Gwalter and family have moved back to this city again from Toronto, where they had been living for sometime. There is no place like old surroundings.

Miss Ada James was called home from Belleville on January 6th, to see her mother, who was very low, but in spite of the fastest train, death came about six hours earlier. Mrs. James was well known and highly respected in the community, and we extend our heartfelt sympathy to the family.

A farewell party was tendered Miss Mary Hodgins, of London, at the home of George and Mrs. Munroe, here, on January 29th, prior to her departure for Windsor. All the deaf of this city were present. Several games were played. In the wall quoits contest, first prize for men went to Mr. W. J. Smalldon, a pair of cuff-links. For ladies, a cake plate went to Miss Reta Windrim. A pair of Jeff and Mutt salt and pepper shifters was grabbed by George Munroe in the European map contest. All enjoyed the evening's entertainment, with lunch a plenty around midnight.

A Valentine party was given by Fred and Harry Gwalter at the home of their mother, on the 12th of February. The regular bunch were present, with Mr. and Mrs. John Fisher, of London, thrown in. Various games were reeled off, for which good prizes hung up. The Fishers, with their usual good luck, each won a prize, John getting a bow tie that makes him look tony in his Sunday outfit, while his wife, Beatrice, won a couple of colored handkerchiefs. George Munroe took the cigars in the checker games, and Mrs. Munroe a box of chocolates in the pin contest. After a dainty lunch was served, all went home more than satisfied.

Quite a number journeyed from here to take in the Valentine party at the Y. M. C. A., on February 19th. About thirty-five people showed up, with Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Fisher guiding. Plenty of games and prizes were in order, and at the close, Mr. and Mrs. Fisher were warmly thanked for their untiring efforts on our behalf. Those from St. Thomas remained overnight to attend the service conducted by Mr. Colin McLean, from Toronto, who gave a good sermon, to which every one paid close attention. Mrs. George Munroe beautifully rendered, "For I Will Follow Jesus All the Way."

KITCHENER KINDLINGS.

Mrs. Charles Golds was pleased to receive a pleasant surprise visit from her brother, Mr. William R. Watt, of Toronto, on February 13th.

Mrs. Newton Black went over to Waterloo, on February 19th, to pay Mrs. Absalom Martin a fraternal visit, but was surprised to find her somewhat under the weather. Here's hoping she will soon be around again.

The Misses Mary McQueen and Evelyn Durant, of Guelph, were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. Newton Black, on February 13th, and attended the Watt meeting.

Mrs. Chapole, of Toronto, is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Absalom Martin, in Waterloo, for a while.

Mr. William R. Watt, of Toronto, came up to conduct the service here on February 13th, in place of Mr. Walter Bell. He gave a fine sermon. The little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Absalom Martin has gone to Toronto for a lengthy stay with her aunt, Miss M. Chapple.

Miss M. Kaufman, of Palmerston, was visiting friends here for a week, and attended Mr. Watt's meeting on February 13th.

Mrs. Ida Cherry Robertson, of Preston, was up to see her many friends here lately. She always has a sunny smile when ever she drops in.

OWEN SOUND OPTIONS

There are, as far as we know, thirteen deaf people living in this city and all are doing well.

Mr. Percy Smith has just obtained a good job in a stove factory here, and likes it well.

Mr. Melvin Rocke, late of Tara, has secured a lucrative position in a printing office here and is doing well.

On February 14th, the deaf of this city got up surprise party for Miss Eva Goetz, in honor of her birthday, and a very enjoyable time was spent in various ways.

Mrs. Percy Smith has been down in Hamilton for some time past, looking after the home of a brother whose wife is in the hospital.

After working for the past four months at the chair factory, Mr. Hugh R. Carson was induced by the Superintendent of the Owen Sound furniture works to take a job at the latter plant. Friend Hugh now finds the change not only to his liking, but finds the wage schedule is more substantial.

GENERAL GLEANINGS.

Mr. Roy Bowen, of Cookstown, has, we understand, engaged with Mr. John Dean, on the latter's farm at Nobleton, for the coming season. Roy commences his duties in April.

Miss Helen A. Middleton, of Horn- ing Mills, was a guest, for a few days recently, of Mr. and Mrs. Metcalfe in Shelburne.

Since he went from Toronto to Toledo, Ohio, a month ago, Mr. William Hazlitt has been in the habit of running over to Detroit every week-end to see old Canadian friends.

Could any of our readers give us any light in regard to the whereabouts of our old friend, Mr. John C. Wana- maker, who has not been heard of since he left the Belleville School, about thirty-eight years ago. He originally came from Omeme, Ont.

It is ages upon ages since we last heard of Mrs. Jean Baizana, of Ottawa, and his many friends are wondering if he is still on the crest of this earth.

How fast time flies. Just twenty-five years ago, our old friend, Mr. John F. Fisher, who was working at Orillia heeded the westward call and went to Sault Ste Marie. Now he is in London, Ont., has a beautiful home, a devoted wife, a grown-up son and a swell car. Some class!

Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Brooks, of Brighton, were recently in Colborne, visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Parker, for a couple of weeks.

Mr. Thomas A. Middleton, of Horn- ing Mills, has no reason to worry over help on his farm this coming season, as Mr. Thomas Daud, who has been helping him all winter, has decided to remain for the Spring and Summer. Mr. Daud is a very industrious worker.

Messrs. J. H. Misner Reeve, of Port Dover, and R. Misner, Warden of Norfolk County, are uncles of our old friend, Mr. Jarvey H. Armstrong, of Vancouver, B. C.

HERBERT W. ROBERTS.

OHIO.

Ohio news for publication may be sent to B. M. Edgar, School for the Deaf, Columbus, O.

Miss Elsie Kenney, of Detroit, a former well-known teacher at the Ohio School was calling on friends in Columbus last week.

Mr. Grover Burcham was called home Monday on account of the death of a nephew. He returned Friday and is again on duty at the school.

Mrs. Wesley Huebner, of Marion, who has been down in Gallia County, helping to take care of her mother, returned home last week, stopping over in Columbus to visit her son, who is a student at the school.

Mrs. Wylie Ross, of Cincinnati, has been spending a few weeks in Columbus with her mother and letting her friends see her pleasant smiles.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell Moore, of Columbus, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Sawhill, in Pittsburgh. Mrs. Moore is a daughter of Mrs. Steele, of Akron, and Mr. Moore is a brother of Treasurer Fred Moore, of New Jersey.

Mr. Conrad Zorbaugh, a resident at the Ohio Home, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday, February 19th. For many years he was a teacher in the Iowa School.

Mr. Kreigh Ayers, of Akron, found himself in Pittsburgh, Pa., at the Frats' banquet, telling what he knew about "Women."

Mr. Wm. H. Harrison Grisby, well known to many deaf in Ohio, died at the age of eighty-six years, last Wednesday, at the home of his daughter in Columbus, after a lingering illness. He was born at Frazz- lurg, Muskingum Co., and received his education in the Ohio School. In his early life, he was a farmer. In 1880, he became an employee at the school, which position he held for thirty-two years and was always a faithful and industrious worker till rheumatism so undermined his health and he retired. For a few years he lived at the Ohio Home, but left there to be with his daughter.

Funeral services were conducted February 26th, by layreader, Mr. J. B. Showalter. Miss Cora Uhl rendered, in lovely signs, "Nearer, My God, To Thee." There were many beautiful floral tributes from friends of the family. Aside from his daughter, he is survived by three sons, one of whom is a well-known and prosperous business man of Columbus. Mr. Basil Grigsby, his deaf son, is employed in the State bindery. The remains were taken to Prospect for burial.

The two basketball teams from the school, accompanied by Dr. and Mrs. J. W. Jones, Mr. Albert Ohlemacher, manager, and coaches, Miss Dyer and Mr. Holdren, left Thursday noon for Indianapolis, where the great battle was to be fought. Upon arrival there, they found autos awaiting to take them to the school, where teams from other States were gathered, ready for the Third States Basket Ball Tourney.

Mr. Louis La Fontaine, Misses Faye Wood, Mary Riddlebough and Evelyn Sayre followed the party on Saturday. Messrs. Calvin Stottler, of Cleveland; William Huerta, of Akron, and Howard Liggett, of Columbus, were other Buckeyes who witnessed the games.

In every contest some must lose while others win, and as Ohio carried off the honors last year, some other school must win this time. From all reports, there was good clean playing, and Indiana won both trophies this time, but that does not mean that Indiana will hold them next year. The Ohio teams were given a rousing welcome when they returned Sunday afternoon, showing that Ohio knows how to take a defeat. The official scoring was as follows:

Friday morning—Ohio vs. Kentucky. Won by Ohio, 23 to 10.

Friday afternoon—Illinois vs. Indiana. Won by Indiana, 27 to 11. Ohio vs. Michigan. Won by Ohio, 44 to 12.

Friday night—Ohio Girls vs. Indiana Girls. Won by Indiana Girls, 10 to 7.

Kentucky vs. Illinois. Won by Illinois, 13 to 7. Michigan vs. Indiana. Won by Indiana, 23 to 15.

Saturday morning—Indiana vs. Kentucky. Won by Indiana, 16 to 11. Indiana Girls vs. Lawrence H. S. Girls. Won by Lawrence Girls, 19 to 15.

Saturday afternoon—Illinois vs. Michigan. Won by Illinois, 21 to 15. Indiana vs. Ohio. Won by Indiana, 28 to 20.

Saturday night—Kentucky vs. Michigan. Won by Michigan, 10 to 8. Illinois vs. Ohio. Won by Illinois, 14 to 13.

Mr. A. W. Ohlemacher did not return with the party, as after the games he went to visit Mr. and Mrs. Otten- backer in Indianapolis. Mrs. Otten- backer was Eva Matthews, of Columbus, before her marriage.

Ohio took one long stride forward February 23d, when the bill to transfer the schools for the deaf and for the blind from the Public Welfare Department to the Department of Education, was unanimously passed by the Ohio Senate. No doubt the bill will pass the House, and then we must await the Governor's signature to the bill before the two schools can be full fledged educational institutions in the eyes of the general public. We believe this is a move in the right direction, as the alumni of both schools have long resented the idea of being classed with the penal institutions and State hospitals.

Mr. A. B. Greener and Mr. Ernest Zell are on the sick list, the former having an attack of pleurisy and the latter suffering from the effects of the gripe.

Gallaudet College

For the second time this year a relief correspondent has been pressed into service to chronicle the happenings at Gallaudet College and its environs. The contribution of the news budget from Kendall Green on this occasion comes from Mr. David Peikoff, a sophomore, who is temporarily substituting for his classmate, Mr. Howard Hofsteater, the regular scribe, during the latter's enforced absence from college. On Thursday, last week, Howard was saddened by a wire notifying him of the death of his father at Talladega, Ala. Acting on instructions from his mother, Howard departed for Richland, Iowa, where the body of the deceased will be interred. The late H. McP. Hofsteater attended this college for three years in the late eighties, before pecuniary difficulties deprived him of the chance to graduate. He immediately entered into the employ of the South Dakota School for the Deaf, eventually becoming a printing instructor at the North Carolina School for a good number of years, finally devoting the remainder of his life to tutoring printing pupils at the Alabama school. Before crossing the Great Divide, Howard's father, suffered recurrent attacks of complicated illness for over a year, necessitating a leave of absence for one year from his chair of instructorship. The sympathy of the entire college goes to the bereaved family. Circumstances permitting, Howard expects to resume his studies here about March 5th.

According to the request of the Y. W. C. A., Rev. Mr. Homer Councillor, a leading clergyman of this city, who is connected with the Calvary Baptist Church, presented himself before a large Sunday afternoon assemblage on February 20th. Prior to his sermon, Miss Grace Davis, P. C., opened the meeting with a prayer, and Miss Fern Newton, '27, followed with a graceful rendition of "America." No definite title was announced in advance, but the talk centered appropriately about the life of George Washington. Rev. Mr. Councillor quoted the First Psalm to impress his silent congregation on the utter folly of a certain class of aspersing persons to besmirch the noble character of the "Father of Our Country."

When vibrating music sets sensitive feet into giddy action, no injunction of the League of Nations, however couched in most threatening terms, can stay the enraptured dancers. "Just fine," was the unanimous comment of those who attended the Midwinter Dance, held in the young men's refectory, on the night before the commemorative Washington Day. Mr. Flood, a young orchestral leader, and son of deaf parents in this city, led his symphonists to a triumphal conquest of our admiration and applause. The committee in charge saw to it that the evening was rounded out enjoyably by providing excellent refreshments. The social broke up at eleven o'clock, adding another pleasant chapter in the memory book of the gay revellers.

Washington Day was an official holiday on Kendall Green, and the vacationists crowded the memorable day with a diversity of entertainments, both athletic and social. The headliner was the continuation of the mollycoddle basketball tournament. A fine gallery of wild-eyed and maddened enthusiasts cheered their heroes along. By successfully withstanding the furious onslaught of Bengal-like Freshmen, the Seniors breezed through with a victory, which earned for them the distinction of being undefeated champions for the second consecutive year. The score was 27 to 19. It was not brawn alone, but heady work which enabled the class of 1927 to establish their monarchical reputation. Walter Krug, whose avoirdupois is in the hydrogen class, exploded the theory that a heavily burdened office-holder is too much distracted to shine in athletics by his stellar exhibition of net sinkers in practice.

tically every game he participated. His teammates are, however, not to be short of deserving praise for flawless teamwork. The champions who now face the applauding people are Messrs. Scarvie, Szopa, Krug, Marsden, Bumann, Calame, Killian and Rose.

The second tussle was between the Preps and Sophomores, the former reversing the order of class superiority by bumping the Sophs to the tune of 36-22. Chester Dobson was the pivot around which the Prep sharpshooters were deftly tied with the hurtling spheroid for advantageous pointers.

Quite a crowd of Gallaudetians gathered at the corner of Florida Avenue and Seventh Street to wave encouraging hands to Leon Heinrich, '28, as the Junior ran tenth behind the leading marathoner in the second annual Washington's Birthday ten-mile race. The event was held under the auspices of Aloysius Club, and forty-one participants started.

The suppliants of the Kappa Gamma Fraternity sprung a remarkable array of histrionics as they disported on the stage, on the evening of February 22d. Two acts were pulled off, the first dealing with the troubles of two rubber firms, the Charge concern and the Discharge firm. The owner of the second company suddenly became envious upon hearing of a fat contract Mr. Charge was favored with by Mr. Rolls Royce. With avarice at the throttle, the firm titles were exchanged and the plot deepened with the visit of the auto mogul, and the climax found Messrs. Charge and Discharge in fierce fistic encounter. The second act provoked much hilarity among the onlookers for its absolute originality. The lights of Chapel Hall were turned off, with the exception of those behind the screen. A clever acting silhouette, in which the dentist was shown extracting an enormous tooth from the patient and later a realistic saving off of a leg, was viewed.

GALLAUDET WORSTED AGAIN

The Buff and Blue basketballers failed to avenge its early defeat at the hands of the Western Maryland team and bowed down to the better team on February 22d, when it played on the hardwood at Westminster, Md. It was hard luck all the way through for the battling Kendall Greeners, who unleashed a furious attack on their opponents in the opening minutes and were but one point wanting of evening up the count of the second half. The score stood 20-21 then. Through some unaccountably strange decision of the home scorer, Capt. Miller was charged with having four personal fouls, and despite protests, Miller was compelled to watch the progress of the game from the side lines for the rest of the fray. His absence weakened the defensive system of Coach Hughes' proteges and the team crumbled to pieces. Dyer and Cosgrove strove valiantly to stem the tide with their brilliant offensive attacks, but in vain.

LOSING STREAK CONTINUES

The Kendall Greeners could not emerge from their losing ways, and again lost another basketball game to Blue Ridge, 45 to 33. This is the third year in a row in which the scarlet-jerseyed team from New Windsor captured all their scheduled games from Ted Hughes' team. Evidently the jinx was more than the Gallaudetians could cope with, for in the third quarter the speedy work of Cosgrove and Dyer brought the Buff and Blue aggregation within a few points of evening up matters. About the hardest work the Florida Avenue flashies were confronted with was in matching their diminutive statures with the roving Woolworths of their opponents. Capt. Miller performed capably in his guard position, while Bilgite, Cosgrove and Dyer carried off the honors of the hotly contested game.

William Russell Thompson, '30, received the unhappy news of his mother's serious illness, and sent his trunk on the way to his Louisiana home, where our erstwhile Freshman will tarry at the bedside of his sick mother. His future plans have been arranged, which provides for his entering a seminary where the career of priesthood is the object. Our raven-haired cheer leader will be sorely missed, for there is sure to be rollicking laughter every time Billy starts on his weird gyrations. However, Mr. Thompson has our best wishes for reaching the highest pinnacle of divinity fame, even if it means obscuring Billy Sunday in his pottery-smashing proclivities.

If there is anything the Senior Class is delicately careful about, it is seeking the greatest notoriety possible. This trait was revealed on Friday, the twenty-fifth, when a large number of Co-eds were attracted downtown by a fashion show, and the denizens of College Hall had their eyes directed to the gym, where a basketball game between Kendall School girls and Maryland School lassies was in progress. Their training in logic endowed them with superabundance of gray matter. As a consequence the program for the Literary Society, to be given by the class of 1927, was abruptly cancelled. The literary and burlesque attraction bill has been postponed to the third term, and we are hoping disappointment will be a missing word from our dictionary when the show comes off.

Mr. Stahl Butler, the Dean of College Hall, is quietly training himself in the art of foresight and diplomacy. He has acquired a motorcycle, with an avowed intention of burning up the highways all the way to the Gold Coast. Diplomacy—you ask! Well, there is the highway cop to be reckoned with, and isn't it true that the act of pleasing is the art of keeping your wallet fat and intact?

Portland, Ore.

Mr. and Mrs. Rudy Spieler are the owners of a Star car. Recently Mr. R. Lines built a garage for the Spielers.

The Salem basketball team recently played the Willamette University Freshmen. It was a fast game and ended with a score of 18 to 14 in favor of the Salem boys. It is said the spectators cheered for Lloyd Hudson and John Powell on account of their long throws.

Mr. B. L. Craven was elected delegate to represent the Portland Division, No. 41, N. F. S. D. at the convention to be held in Denver in July next.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Chase, of Camas, Wash., were visitors in Portland recently. Mr. Chase is from the Washington deaf school, while Mrs. Chase is a graduate from the Montana deaf school.

Denver Convention Notice.

In last week's JOURNAL mention was made of plans being made by the Northern Pacific Railway for transportation of guests of the N. F. S. D., to Yellowstone Park and the Pacific.

Those who contemplate going are hereby informed that the Burlington Railway, which handles the "Special," between Chicago and Denver, is also arranging other trips covering the territory mentioned, and as Burlington is our "Official" route, this line will be given preference wherever possible.

GALLAUDET HOME

During November, I had the pleasure of a week's visit at Fanwood. I occasionally had a nice chat with this and that teacher or officer. I enjoyed a talk with my old friend, George Wilkinson, quite often. George has charge of the storeroom. He is the biggest man at Fanwood. Major William H. Van Tassel is next to him in stature. George has been at his place for over thirty years, and he is now nearly sixty years of age. He may retire within a few years from a pension. Fanwood has an ice-making machine. George, who runs or controls it, is quite pleased with it. Before its purchase, George made ice-cream for the officers and teachers only. Now the machine makes ice-cream for the whole school every Friday. The stuff the machine makes is soft and delicious and preferable to what you may purchase at the stores. During my two weeks' sojourn in America's great metropolis, I was at St. Ann's Church on two or more subsequent occasions.

Mr. Franklin Keller, who has been living here with his wife since the eleventh of last March, informs me that he recently had a letter from his old friend, Sidney Howard, of San Martin, Cal., who says, among other things, that the Gallaudet Home news is of much interest to him and his associates. When Mr. Keller was married forty-seven years ago, Mr. Howard was his best man. Mr. Howard was then a teacher at the old Rochester school.

Mrs. Ida Countryman, the cook, who had been working here since the middle of last May, left here early in January. Before leaving her place, she married again and now she is Mrs. Ida Coppoch. Cora Noidem also left here. She had been our waitress since last September.

During the month of January, two carpenters, friends of Samuel Gardner, were busy laying a new floor in the men's sitting room, the hallway and the clothing room, and now the appearance of the place is fine. The old floor was laid some twenty-three years ago, and was in bad shape.

The following item made its appearance in the Washington County Post, of February 11th, after Mr. Shanks arrived here.

"William Shanks started Tuesday for the Gallaudet Home at New Hamburg. Mr. Shanks has lived in town about twenty-five years, and recently the house which he occupies burned. Owing to his infirmities, it was not suitable for him to continue living alone, and his friends are glad he has been able to enter the Home."

There has been much sickness here this winter season. Many of the folks have suffered more or less from severe colds. On the afternoon of February 12th, Robert Patterson, who was admitted to the Home on November 4th, 1927, passed away. He was born on the 27th of April, 1844. He died of old age. The Vicar of St. Ann's Church, Rev. John H. Kent, delivered the funeral service. The remains of the departed one were taken to Wappingers Falls and placed in a vault, where they will remain until it is possible to bury them.

At about eight o'clock, on the night of February 18th, Miss Sarah Woodworth, who was admitted to the home on the 9th of November, 1915, and was nearly seventy-one years, died of a severe cold and weak heart. The young preacher, Rev. Gilbert Braddock, delivered the funeral service. The remains of the deceased were spent to Brooklyn N. Y. Four of the inmates have passed away within the past eleven months. Now there are, all told, thirteen men and thirteen women living here at present.

STANLEY.

DETROIT.

The Rev. Gordon Mathews will give Holy Communion at St. John's Church, the third Sunday of each month. Mrs. Grace Davis will act as interpreter. A good attendance is desired. Lay-reader Waters has services every Sunday at eleven A.M. Everyone welcome.

Mrs. Grace Davis entertained the Executive Committee of the Detroit Chapter of the Michigan Association of the Deaf at her home recently. She asked permission from the officers to look up the records of all deaf driven, this being at Judge Keidam's request, as he is opposed to granting the deaf a driver's license. The request was granted, and we hope she will be able to convince the Judge he is all wrong. Afterwards games were played and refreshments served.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Smith, of Ann Arbor, are taking their friends riding in a new Chevrolet coach. Fifty years have passed since the late Rev. Austin Mann founded the Ephphatha Episcopal Mission for the Deaf. In honor of the event, one hundred and twenty-five people came to the Parish House, Saturday evening, February 26th, to attend the banquet which was served by twelve volunteer members of the hearing church. It was a delicious and well served menu.

Yellow candles, place-cards with jonquils and golden bon-bons and two beautiful bouquets of yellow, jonquils were on the tables. One was complimentary from the Mission, and the other from the Ladies' Guild. Afterwards they were given to Mrs. G. E. Nelson, general chairman, and the other to Mrs. Grace D. Davis, the general interpreter.

Mr. Horace B. Waters acted as toastmaster.

Following were the speakers:

Prayer by Rev. Gordon Mathews.
Recitation—"My Faith Looks up to Thee." Mrs. Horace B. Waters.
Life of Rev. A. W. Mann. Mr. E. M. Bristol.
Church Work of Rev. Mann in Detroit. Mrs. G. E. Nelson.
The Shepherds of Our Flock, (Poem by R. V. Jones.) Mrs. Grace Davis.
Religious Obstacles of the Deaf. R. V. Jones.
Recitation—"Glory to God on High." Mrs. Fred Affeldt.
Benediction. Rev. G. Mathews.

Rev. R. W. Woodroffe and Rt. Rev. Herman Page, D. D., were unable to be present. Right behind the speakers' table was a picture of Rev. Mann, handsomely draped with golden ribbon. The whole committee on arrangements deserve thanks for the efficient way they managed everything. The only wish of all is the Rev. Austin Mann's good work may continue for ever and ever.

Among the out-of-town guests present were Mr. and Mrs. Charles Kane and Miss Rosie Kraft, of Maumee, Ohio.

The Lutheran Church for the Deaf is desirous of obtaining a place of its own for church services, and socials, since the present place loaned by the hearing church, is not safe for big crowds. The members have originated a series of socials, one for each month, to be held at the members' homes. The first one was at Mr. and Mrs. John Ulrichs, January 29th. It was followed February 26th, with a hot supper and fancy-goods sale at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Salmond. It was a big success. Mr. and Mrs. John Berry will be host and hostess at their home 121 South Maple Street, Royal Oak, March 26th. A good supper will be the main attraction. Everybody welcome.

Mr. John Ulrich was elected delegate to the Denver convention, and Mr. Thomas Kenney, alternate, at the February meeting.

Mr. Alfred Parker, a salesman for the Ford Company of Montreal, was in Windsor on business in mid-February and came over to see his sister-in-law, Mrs. Pussey.

While the passing of Mrs. Alice Perkins Watson was not a surprise to those who knew her well, yet there were hopes the sunny suns of California would help her. To Mr. Watson and the sons we extend our sympathy.

There will be a masquerade at the Fraternal Club, March 12th, for the benefit of Detroit Division, No. 2. Since the club is on its feet, it plans to start on the real object of its founding. It is proposed to have monthly affairs with different socials and entertainments. There has not been much done lately and the local fund needs replenishment.

D. A. D. DOINGS.

The Literary Circle date has been changed to March 13th. John Pupel is the latest to join.

The vaudeville show was one of the best for a long time. Eddie Payne, as a timid, blushing old maid, kept the crowd in an uproar. All female parts were acted by males, increasing the merriment.

The country-store goods were given to holders of lucky numbers. A big crowd was present. The proceeds went to help the athletic fund. A number of out-of-town guests were present.

From a mere scratch, infection set in on the left hand of Joe Pastore and he had to give up the bowling tournament at Flint. At this writing he is able to be back in his shop.

FRATERNAL CLUB FACTS.

Mr. John Ulrich, who had his car damaged by a speeding driver going against the stop signal. He agreed at the scene of the accident to pay for the damage, but on receiving the bill, refused to do so. Mr. Ulrich took the case to court and won his judgment. He kept the written statement of the driver at the time of the accident.

The financial statement appearing in the JOURNAL, February 24th, belongs to the Frat Club and not the D. A. D. We wish to correct the error.

Mrs. Edith Meyers, of Northville, was a recent guest of Mrs. Rudolph Huhn.

Mr. Fred J. Bourcier was given a surprise party by his wife and Mrs. Eunice Stark, in honor of his forty-sixth milestone of life. Thirty-five friends came and left him a beautiful mahogany mantle clock as a reminder of the occasion.

Mrs. Wm. L. BEHRENDT

Rochester, N. Y.

Friends of Mr. John Johncox, of Buffalo, were given a big surprise when they learned that he had taken Mrs. Gay, of the same city, as his bride, on December 27th. One Saturday evening, last month, friends staged a surprise for them by showing up at the former's sister's house, where the happy couple were showed with all kinds of kitchen wares.

Mrs. Annie Ward, of Los Angeles, has been visiting with her brother, Dr. Drumm, of Lake Avenue, since October. She spent most of her summer in Ontario, her native home, with several of her prosperous farmer brothers. She was surprised to find Rochester a big city, after being away from it twenty years. She is returning home to California, where she resided thirty-nine years, on March 21st.

A gay party was given at his mother's house by Arnold Slater, one Friday evening last month. At the party, friends were surprised and pleased to hear that Jack Salzer had announced his engagement to Miss Diminick. Both attended the Rochester school for a few years.

After several weeks' visit with her mother and relatives, Mrs. Frances Smith returned home with her husband, who came for her and her baby, to Cortlandt, N. Y., two weeks ago.

On January 22d, Messrs. Chester Leary, Louis Hicks, Henry Swan and Verne Barnett went to Buffalo, where they attended the Frat banquet. They reported a very pleasant time there.

Mr. John Clark, of Binghamton, and Mr. Adolph Ulrich, of La Salle, are proud fathers these days over their first-born babies. The babies were born on the same day, January 31st. Mr. and Mrs. Clark have given their little daughter the name Phyllis, while Mr. and Mrs. Ulrich have named their son after his father, Adolph, Jr.

Rev. H. C. Merrill, of Syracuse, was in town over the week-end of February 6th, and he conducted a very interesting communion service on the sixth, when his subject was "Crusade."

The deaf girls of Y. W. C. A. gave a card party at the school, Friday evening, February 11th. Over sixty-six friends attended the party, and the girls made a very nice profit of over thirty-three dollars. Among the deaf attending the party were Misses Charlotte Schwagler and Agnes Palmgren, of Buffalo, and Eleanor Atwater, of Lockport. February 12th, being a legal holiday, the girls took the opportunity of coming here to attend the party and to stay over the week-end with friends.

Friends of Mr. John Smith and his sister, Georgianna, are sending condolences to them for the loss of their beloved parents on February 2d. Their father had long been sick with diabetes, and a few days before his death, one of his legs was in such condition that it was amputated. He never survived the operation, which caused his death Sunday morning. On the same night, their mother died from a long illness of cancer. They were buried in Buffalo on the following Wednesday.

Mr. Oliver O'Beaudry, of Utica, was in town Sunday before last, and he returned to his home a few days later. He had been to Elmira and Buffalo, looking for work before coming here. TAKE NOTICE, don't come here to try to find work, as it is quite bad in this city at present, so it will be wiser to stay at home until work picks up later on.

The Lamp Club met at Miss

Helen Van Auken's home, at Sea Breeze, last week, to work on lamp shades. After a few hours' work, Miss Van Auken served her club with nice refreshments she made, which was to the club's likings.

On February 12th, Mrs. Mortimer was given a surprise by her friends, when they showered her with beautiful birthday presents at a party they gave for her at her home. On the same evening, at different places, Mr. and Mrs. Wackerman and Mrs. Drumm were given surprises by friends with parties in honor of them.

Mr. Clayton McLaughlin has been selected to be a delegate to the Denver Convention next July.

Mr. and Mrs. Ackerman, of Syracuse, N. Y., have an addition to their family of two children, in the way of a new baby, born a few weeks ago. They are very proud of it. One of their beautiful children, the oldest, is attending the Rochester School.

WHY SUCH STRENUOUS OBJECTIONS?

EDITOR JOURNAL.—Please allow me space in your paper to say that I deeply deplore the fact that some of our deaf writers have seen fit to inject "Sectionalism" into the discussion over the proposed "Southern Association of the Deaf." In fact, the whole issue is being widely diverted from the original intent and purpose of the originators of the movement.

Upon looking through my files, I find that this movement was first started here, in Atlanta, by Mr. P. W. Ligon and myself during the summer of 1919, long before either the N. F. S. D. or the N. A. D. conventions had been held in Atlanta, or even plans made to bring the convention south. The original idea was to get the Southern deaf, who are widely scattered, together in order to form a more comprehensive and co-operative alliance with our two great national bodies, at the same time drawing the deaf of the South into closer relation with each other, so that those problems, peculiarly our own, might be planned and worked out to the advantage of the deaf everywhere. This was the original idea of such an association, and our friends will do well to stick to it.

"Sectionalism" as hurled by the Rev. Mr. Pulver is unwarranted and should never have been injected into the issue, especially by a man whose mission in life is, or should be, that of preaching peace, and not that of creating ill will, and I regret that he did not omit that word from his article. He claims that by reason of his two years' residence in the South, he knows where he speaks. I question that assertion. I, myself, am a Southerner, born and raised there. But first I am an American, and one among the army of deaf who recognize no North, South, East or West, when it is for the good of the deaf.

We are all, I take it, working together for the same aim in life—the good of all—so why should any of us have ill feelings over a matter that has taken no definite form? I am asking my fellow deaf of the South and elsewhere to give pause and consider only the real and original idea of the forming of a "Southern Association of the Deaf," before allowing themselves to become plunged into an controversy totally foreign to the real objective of such an association.

I do not wish to engage in a newspaper controversy, save to direct attention back to the original intent of such an association. However, there are certain misrepresentations of the matter that should not go unchallenged. Whatever opinions I may have are free from bias or prejudice. I do not hesitate to say that it was mostly through my long, grinding years of ceaseless service in behalf of the deaf that brought the N. A. D. to its present scope of activity in this section. I can well remember the time when the deaf, at least in Georgia, had little or no knowledge of either of our two great national organizations. Whatever progress has been made, I attribute in no small measure to these efforts.

Why? Because of my desire, during my more than thirty years of work for my fellow deaf of the South, to have them receive every advantage possible that would make life broader and fuller for them.

Even the N. F. S. D., the greatest organization for the deaf in the world, has had my wholehearted cooperation for years. I have stood behind the boys of the N. F. S. D., and encouraged and aided them in every way I could, simply because the welfare of ALL the deaf is my life's work.

I am, as I stated, one of the two originators of the Southern Association of the Deaf movement, and still believe it to be a good thing for the Southern deaf for reasons stated in the beginning of this article, and I propose to stand by the movement until it is proven not for the good for the deaf as a whole. I am hoping that our leaders in this section will all stand together until the matter has been thoroughly tested and proven. It is a good thing, and I hope it goes over.

MRS. C. L. JACKSON

The Capital City.

Seeing in the issue of the 24th, that Jen and Bob were expected—rather it was hoped—that they would do a little writing up, they have decided not to disappoint—probably a little late, but better late than never, so here goes as chronologically as possible.

Wednesday, February 16th, the Literary Society met at N. E. Masonic Temple. Three new members, Miss Agnes Moore, Mrs. L. Starke and Alonzo Hartsell, were sworn in. The program opened with Rev. Arthur D. Bryant taking the audience some sixty years back, to the days of the Civil War. He told about how he happened to come to Washington and be a student in Kendall School, of his pleasant experiences among the soldiers quartered in and passing through the city at that time. The audience were treated to a good face-stretching story of the "Gold Rush" in college when he was a kid. He made it plain that it was the "Golden Syrup Rush."

Any of the old-timers who were in school during that time will smile when they recall this episode. May we see him take the platform again in the near future, for his talks are always interesting and instructive, as well as having a historical tinge to them. Next on the program was Gerald Ferguson, who talked on "Current Topics," which, to say the least, were amusing. Seems like he combed all the dailies and magazines for the most comic tragedies, but his talk was to the point and full of facts worth while thinking about.

The program was closed by Miss Emma Cooke rendering "The Star Spangled Banner," while the audience stood. The program throughout was worthy of "Walking a Mile to See."

Saturday, February 19th, was about the last day any program preparer would pick to produce a lecture or a play. But we all know the old adage "Beggars cannot be choosers," so Jen and Bob, with the help of almost an army of assistants, put up to the public the somewhat extensively heralded lecture and play for the benefit of the D. C. quota of the Edward Miner Gallaudet Fund. The night was cold, bitterly so—sleet four to six inches deep and was still piling up after the play. At eight sharp, the program got under way. Miss Jennie Jones started it by introducing Miss Audie Rogers, who rendered, "The Halls of Gallaudet," after which came an address by Dr. Percival Hall, President of Gallaudet College.

Due to the chilliness of the chapel, the scheduled "Pigs is Pigs" by Rev. John H. Kent, of New York, was changed, and in its stead was given one of O. Henry's stories. "Pigs is Pigs" would have consumed almost an hour and a half, and out of pity for the audience it was omitted. The dance exhibition had to be abandoned because Betty Raymond arrived too late on account of the storm. The play was then in order and was gone through without a hitch.

More than $65 goes into the coffers of the E. M. G. fund, thus boosting Washington's quota over the top. "Washington never fails."

Miss Jennie Jones and Robert M. Werdig motored seventy miles to Frederick, and afterwards Westminster, Md., where they, in company of Misses Benson and Garman, Messrs. Harris and Pfeiler, all of Kendall Green, saw two games of basketball in the Armory of that town, the first being a game between the Maryland State School and the Western Maryland College Freshmen. The Maryland School boys won, 32 to 19. The other was between Gallaudet and W. M. C. first team. Gallaudet lost by 41 to 28.

Saturday, February 19th, Washington deafdom was treated to one of their rare sights—a wedding. Mr. Tony Cicchino took unto himself a bride. The house was full of well-wishers and all had a good time. It seemed as if every available deaf-mute in Washington was in the house or had been, which shows Tony is some person. The best wishes of all go with Tony and his bride.

In appreciation of the help and assistance rendered her in making the lecture and play of February 19th, a success, Miss Jennie Jones, the Chairman, sent out invitations to all who helped, to a tea on the afternoon of March sixth. Amongst those present were Misses Atkins, Wheeler, Leitch, Mrs. Roy Stewart, Mrs. Hunter Edington, Mrs. Ferguson, Messrs. Stewart, Edington, Ferguson, Hartsell and Werdig. A regular social was in order and a good time was had by all.

March 9th, there will be a social at Third and A Streets, S. E., under the St. Barnabas' Mission. Through the influence of Mrs. Galloway and her son, Morton, St. Barnabas' Mission has secured the use of this beautiful church for their socials, which are to be held the second Wednesday of each month.

March 29th, there will be a social in Calvary Baptist Church. A hearty welcome is extended to all to be present.

JEN and BOB.

CHICAGO.

I've told how Hazel, and Fred Lee Achieved success. And how, in glee I'll tell another, fine and fat: A son of Sweden comes to bat.

Nineteen twenty-seven is the hey-day of the deaf. Particularly in Chicago. The Chicago Evening Post, of February 8th, ran the following:—

WORK OF DEAF-MUTE ARTIST WIN PRAISE

A group of miniatures exhibited at the current Hoosier salon in the galleries of Marshall Field and Co., has drawn much attention to the work of E. W. Carlson, the Indiana artist, whose career is a story of victory over a crushing handicap.

Mr. Carlson was born in Chicago in 1882. At the age of four, an attack of scarlet fever deprived him of his hearing and resulted, a short time afterward, in the loss of his power of speech.

While still of grammar school age, he spent three years in Sweden, where he began his education in the language of his ancestors. Returning to Chicago, he attended local schools for two years. His family then moved to Groverton, Ind., which proved an advantage to the future artist in many ways, but which had the distinct disadvantage that there was no suitable place for him to continue his education.

As he grew older, however, Mr. Carlson began to manifest unusual ability in drawing, and his father concluded that this latent talent should be developed. By special effort, the young artist succeeded in entering the school of the Art Institute of Chicago, and was able to maintain his class standing there so well, that he was graduated with honors.

From painting of a general nature, Mr. Carlson has made miniature painting his special field within later years, and his work has won general praise and a number of prizes.

Social activities of local deafdom, February 26th, centered on the Lutheran Church, out on the North-west side, where an engaging "basket social" was enjoyed. The blindfold driving contest—three heats and a final—was won by "Bubbling Over and Earl Sande" (Mrs. Fredo Hyman and Emery Horn). Thirteen lovely baskets were auctioned by the JOURNAL representative, after judges had passed on the decorations, and awarded cash prizes as follows:

1—Dolly Washington box, with a large doll gracing the top, prize $1.50. Mrs. Edwin Hazel. Box bought by Ernest Seineke.

2—Patriotic basket, prize 75 cents, Mrs. H. Morris. Bought by the Rev. A. C. Dahme.

3—Covered Wagon outfit—huge filled box, with large covered wagon drawn by toy horses, and a bottle of amber fluid attached; 50 cents, Mrs. John Schwartz. Bought by Otto Lorenz.

The thirteen boxes brought $30.50 to the Lutheran treasury. Mrs. Gustav Anderson was chairman, assisted by Mrs. John Anderson and Mrs. Alma Meyers. (Both Andersons are from North Dakota, but are not related.)

The Rev. Dahms arrived late, having made a forced auto trip from Kankakee, where he preached to one of his six out-of-town congregations that afternoon. He has regular services at other points in Michigan and Indiana.

The four leading oralist families, who are members of the All Angeles' Church congregation, united in giving one of the best 500 soirees ever seen in Chicago, on the 23d.

The Spragues, Hills, Wirts and Blairs each donated five prizes—twenty in all—and a dozen tables were filled with the bon ton of deafdom. Home-made cakes, sandwiches, coffee and ice-cream were served after the game, and a nice profit was amassed for the church endowment fund. The sandwiches left over were donated to the Home for Aged Deaf, which was an appreciated afterthought.

Two days later, on the 25th, the Chicago chapter of the O. W. L. S.—the Gallaudet College sorority—gave a 500 party at All Angeles', managed by Mrs. Morton Henry. Ten tables of 500 and one of bunco competed for the 11 prizes donated by the Owls. Mrs. Arthur L. Roberts, who is still with her ailing mother in Cleveland, sent a prize. as did each of the other members. Refreshments were donated and served by Mesdames Frank, Zollinger and Hasenstab. The national O. W. L. S. is accordingly richer by several cartwheels.

Is it possible the Barney Oldfields of Chi-Oral-106 are preparing to arrange a match road-race—Chicago to Denver—with the auto owners of grand old Number One? I wonder? Two of the 106 officers bought new cars the same day—Vice-President Harold Libbey investing in a Chevrolet sedan, and Trustee George Sprague a Nash coach. In case such a match team-race is arranged, we suggest Sol Goldberg for referee—because Goldberg has been hit by so many Chicago autos of late years that he can qualify as an expert.

The Frat for February states No. 1, has elected Ernest Wellington Craig as delegate to Denver, with Charles B. Kemp and Morton Henry as alternates. All three men are high-calibre silents, who served on the Silver Jubilee Committee with signal success. Craig is from Ohio, with a year or two at Gallaudet College. Kemp, from the Rochester school, was secretary of Syracuse, Akron and No. 1 Divisions, and president of No. 1 the past two years. He was Syracuse delegate to Philadelphia in 1918, and for the past six years has worked as clerk at grand headquarters here. Henry, from Mt. Airy, holds the record for number of terms served as president of No. 1—four consecutive terms. He is a Gallaudet graduate. Henry and Craig are printers. So is the delegate from Chi-Oral-106—Peter Livshis. He is steadily improving in sign-making; and will be a convincing advocate of his policy of installing separate oral divisions when the delegates come to size him up. All in all, that bunch is one to make Chicago proud.

The father of Mrs. Alice LaMotte died on the 2d, aged 78.

Miss Beatrice Hasenstab has a new Ford coupe, and her sister, Mrs. Constance Elmes, a Ford sedan. The latter attended the M. E. services of her father on the 27th, with little Elizabeth Joyce Elmes in a basket, like that popularized by Alice Roosevelt Longworth.

The Saturday Evening Club met at the home of the Joe Wondras recently.

The six-months-old daughter of Mrs. Ernest Kaps died on the 22d.

On the 12th, a boy, Robert Urban, weight nine pounds, four ounces, was born to the Charles Greens.

Francis P. Gibson delighted a South Bend, Ind., gathering with his rendition of the "Miracle Man," on the 26th.

An Indianapolis bank clerk, named H. C. Anderson, was seen in town the middle of February.

Dates ahead, March 12—Bunco, 500, Pas. 19—St. Pat parties, Pas, etc.

THE MEAGHERS

Gallaudet College (Second Letter.)

With the advent of an occasional flock of blackbirds and a stray robin or two, we know now that the world's sweetheart, Spring, is on her way up North. One and all, the Kendall Greeners welcome her as a much-needed respite from the sleet and slush of wintry days. We look forward with glee to the near future when all the leaves will bud forth, clothing the now bare trees in resplendent greed glory.

Saturday, March 5th the Saturday Night Dramatic Club uncorked a program of unusual entertainment in the way of two splendid plays, "Patrick and the Law" and "The Man in the Front," which were totally different from each other in every respect save one, that of excellence. When the curtain fell at the end of each play, the chapel resounded to the plaudits of a satisfied and pleased optience—to put into use a word coined by the well-known literary, J. H. McFarland.

Perhaps a word or two as to the drift of those two plays would be appropriate. Patrick is a no-account Irishman, who beats up his wife under the influence of drink, but loves his crippled son, Jimmie, to an excess. Miss Carroll induces Nora to have Patrick apprehended for cruelty, but by means of sob stuff Patrick upsets this and continues his idle life under pretense of reforming. In the second play, "The Man in the Front," a mystery is enacted by a humdrum couple, a hero, a heroine, and a villain with his confederate. The optience is completely bewildered by the tangled skeins of the plot. Finally, the Man in the Front, who has been sitting in the front to a side, gets up announces to the players that another rehearsal is imperative and that the acting is on the whole rotten. Whereupon all the actors quit, leaving the director to mourn his hard lot. The personnel of both the plays are as follows:

PATRICK AND THE LAW

Patrick.....Luther Shibley, '27
Nora, his wife.....William Landry, '28
Jimmie.....Howard T. Hofstetter, '29
Miss Carroll.....Theodore Brickley, '30
John Bing.....Henry Holter, '30

THE MAN IN THE FRONT

John.....Chester Dobson, P. C.
Mary, his wife.....Robert Marsden, '27
Hero.....Frank Galluzzo, P. C.
Heroine.....Einer Rosenkjar, P. C.
Villain.....William Mellicoe, P. C.
His accomplice.....Anthony Hajna, '30
The man in the front.....Charles Joselow, '30

Emil Henriksen, '28, the chairman of the Committee of Arrangements, deserves an eulogy for his splendid work, especially in stage decorating, in which he has displayed amazing talent. He introduced an innovation—that of plastering wall-paper on the frayed screens at our disposal, thus making them look as if they were brand new. It is sad, indeed, that his labors should be rewarded by badly-burned hands.

At the request of William Landry, '28, the official photographer, Henriksen fired the flash for the picture. Some gunpowder had been split on his hands and, as the trigger would not work at first, he pulled the trigger with both hands. The powder on his hands ignited and caused terrible burns, especially on his left hand. We hope with all our hearts that his burns will heal quickly.

Friday afternoon, March 4th, the Kendall School staged, for the joint benefit of the Edward Miner Gallaudet Memorial Fund and the Red Cross, a country fair, which consisted of a series of side-shows, to each of which the admission price was one cent. It is entirely to their credit that the aggregate proceeds of this venture were something like ten dollars. Only by such enthusiasm as that of the pupils of the Kendall School will the Edward Miner Gallaudet Memorial Fund be swelled to the desired size.

Pamphlets were issued by Miss Grace Coleman, announcing the formation of a special tour to points of interest in Europe for the deaf and the hard-of-hearing, with herself as the conductor. The tour is to be under the auspices of Temple Tours, Inc. The itinerary, as outlined in the pamphlet, includes London, Paris, Rome, Pisa, Lido, Wiedbach, Brussels, Metz and the battlefields of the World War, not to say anything of many other interesting places embraced by this tour, which will be made doubly interesting by the fact that Miss Coleman is an accomplished signmaker and speaks very distinctly, so that even the mediocre lipreader can understand her.

Putting an end to their probationary period, fifteen candidates were admitted to the Kappa Gamma Fraternity, Saturday night, February 26th. They are as follows: Casper B. Jacobson, '27, Washington; Barney Golden, '27, Alabama; William Johnson, '28, Illinois; LeRoy Ridings, '29, Oklahoma; Henry Holter, '30, North Dakota; Leonard Lau, '30, Iowa; Morton Rosenfeld, Pennsylvania; Anthony Hajna, '30, Connecticut; Charles Joselow, '30, Oregon; Henry Yahn, '30, Kansas; Edwin Johnson, '30, Minnesota; Leonard Johnson, '30, Minnesota; Isadore Hurowitz, '30, Virginia; Charles McBride, '30, New Jersey.

In a fast, exciting game, the Froshs and the Preps lodged horns in their annual grudge game of basketball. To be more exact, we should say that the Freshmen engaged the varsity quintet, for every one of the Prep players had been on the varsity basketball squad. The Freshmen made a surprisingly good showing, letting the fast pair of forwards, Dyer and Cosgrove, roll up only ten points as their margin. When the final whistle blew, the score stood at 34-24. This is the first time to our knowledge that the Preparatory Class has succeeded in beating the Freshmen. The score of two years ago was 23-21, and last year's 35-22.

Aided by their six-four center, Croson, the Strayer's Business College five ran circles around the Kendall Greeners on our own court, to register a 58-40 triumph and avenged an earlier defeat at our hands.

The Kendall Greeners played as if they were miles away and, furthermore, they made the grave error of going on the court confident of downing Strayer's, having beaten them in a previous encounter.

Dr. Robert Patterson, of the Ohio School for the Deaf, is going to lecture in the Chapel Hall, Friday evening, March 11th, at 7:30 o'clock, under the auspices of the Gallaudet College Literary Society. Everyone is cordially invited to drink of Dr. Patterson's wisdom, which, we are sure, will be doled out by means of excellent signs, as Dr. Patterson is noted for his ability as a signmaker. A social will be held after the lecture, which, it is rumored, will be entitled "What I Would Do If I Were at Gallaudet Again."

Charles McBride, '30, is assured of our most sincere sympathy upon his great bereavement in the death of his grandfather. He was called home Sunday night, March 6th, to attend the funeral. What makes Mr. McBride's loss all the greater is the fact that his grandfather was one of his bosom companions, often taking him out camping during the summer vacations.

Mr. and Mrs. F. H. Hughes were host and hostesses to the students and the co-eds belonging to the basket-ball squads, on Friday night, March 4th. Barbecue sandwiches, cookies, cake and coffee were served. Then everybody said good-night and went home to bed. Mr. and Mrs. Roy J. Stewart were also present.

PITTSBURGH.

The fourteenth anniversary banquet of Pittsburgh Division, No. 36, at the Rittenhouse, in the East Liberty District, is now a thing of the past—but only in the actual occurrence, as it will long linger in the memory of the 151 who attended. Pittsburgh was that day experiencing its heaviest snowfall on record. On this account and the fact of the Rittenhouse being in an out-of-the-way place, many had a time making their way through blocked highways to the street cars, which also were considerably hampered. A good number found taxis the only means of transportation. Even these were unable to give good service. It was some job they had ploughing up the hundred hills of the snow-beleagured city. There was a nineteen-inch snowfall, in places drifts were up to your head. Owing to the tied-up traffic bringing late comers, it was nearly an hour after scheduled time that the crowd trickled into the "diner."

There was an excellent menu, so good, that it made every one feel "it is good to be here." Not one was known to make a weak attack on the table, a sign of good health all around. When the eats were all stored away, speech-making was in order.

The chairman, Bernard Teitelbaum, found himself confronted with the task of taking the place of Roland Barker, of Johnstown, who was to be the toastmaster, but unable to come to the city on account of illness. Kreigh B. Ayers, of Akron, was the chief speaker. He treated with several subjects in brief, except the "Modern Woman," which occupied nearly half an hour. At the conclusion of the address, he held the "optidence" enthralled with a rendition of "Lochinvar." The other toasts were: "America," by Annie Edwards; "Three Years as President," by Sam Nichols; "Coming Thru the Rye," by W. M. Stewart and Clifford Davis; "Auld Lang Syne," by Josephine Hartzell.

The last two subjects were on the N. A. D. banquet program, held in Washington last summer, and as they delighted so much, we thought it a good idea to try them here, as many present were not at the convention. Messrs. Stewart and Davis and Miss Hartzell did their parts creditably. We do not want to claim that they were done better here, but can say it was a toss up. There being a good sprinkling of the hearing present, Mrs. J. M. Keith was prevailed upon to act as interpreter.

The toasts were followed by a dance, for which excellent facilities were provided. The floor was well doctored for the occasion and the commodious hall acted as a good magnet. Even many who lost interest in dances long ago or thought they had, were enticed on the floor. At the previous affairs of this kind, held at the hotels down-town, these facilities were lacking. At some it was as bad as dancing with rubbers on, while at others the rooms were so small that the dancers just got by each other at every step. As the annual frat banquets are usually attended in large numbers, the future committees should always make it a point to choose such a place as the Rittenhouse if a dance is to be on the program. It costs more, but a good place for a dance is none too good if you go there only once a year. Music was furnished by our old standbys, the Oakland Serenaders.

Some of those coming from a distance were Mrs. R. Callaghan, Mrs. R. Mohr, Miss Ida McNamara, of Cleveland; Stella Ashcraft, Patrick Gilmore, Francis Divart, of Monongahela, Pa.; John Rosenstall, of Edensburg, Pa.; Abraham Richman, Mrs. Lipman, Ernest Brookbank, of Altoona; Henry Rex, of Johnstown; and Mary Henderson, of Tyrone, Pa. Also several Akronites, besides Mr. Ayres, whose names have been skipped.

Leaving the scene of nocturnal festivities at the midnight hour, many were unable to reach their destinations till as late as four in the morning on account of the cold and deep snow, which disrupted traffic.

The E. M. Gallaudet Fund benefit entertainment, February 26th, drew a large crowd out to McGeagh Hall. The program consisted of a few stage talks, a monologue, a dialogue and declamation. Bernard Teitelbaum opened the lid with Edgar Allan Poe's "The Black Cat," which was told in clear-cut signs and a scholarly manner. The gruesome details of the story made our hair stand on end. That having happened to him when he was reading the story, Teitelbaum thought he'd like to have an idea of how he looked by seeing others going through the same experience. Next came a kitchen scene, with John L. Friend dressed as an old geezer and displaying his culinary skill in "The Mayor's Husband."

A dialogue, "Mr. and Mrs. Fido," followed, with Mrs. E. S. Havens as Mrs. Fido, Mrs. E. M. Holliday as Dr. Johnson, the dog doctor, and Mr. W. J. Gibson as Mr. Fido. Instead of calling the right kind of doctor, Mrs. Fido

by mistake called a dog doctor. The conversation that ensued between the two was very amusing. Mrs. Holliday, in a man's attire and silk stove-pipe hat, made a fine attraction. With bobbed hair, women can look more like men now than formerly. Miss Birdie King, dressed as a cute little boy, closed the program with a declamation "The Raggedy, Raggedy Man," after which Rev. F. C. Smielau was called upon for a little speech. He told of his acceptance of the "call" to the Mid-West diocese. He expressed heartfelt regret at leaving his Pennsylvania friends after having worked twenty-five years with them, but promised them occasional visits.

Next morning, the 27th, Rev. Smielau held a communion service at Trinity Chapel. He will make his last visit here Sunday, March 27th.

Mrs. C. R. Myles has returned from her four months' sojourn in California. That accounts for hubby now wearing a broad smile.

A few words of information in a letter or postal card is sufficient. We will do the rest.

SOCIETY OF DEAF ARTISTS DINNER.

Twenty years have passed since three young men conceived the idea of a society of the deaf of the arts and crafts of this country, with an allied international group.

Mr. Jacques Alexander and Mr. Charles W. Fetscher, of New York, and Mr. Rudolph Janik, of Germany, were the three with an idea and an ideal. The idea was a closer association of the artist deaf—the ideal was no dues, no treasury worth the mention, no money-making object of the society—a pure fellowship. How the idea grew was evident last Saturday evening, when fifty gathered round the festive board. These were of New York City and vicinity only. There would have been between seventy and eighty, were it not for other deaf clubs holding entertainments the same evening. The menu was as follows:—

Half Shell Oysters or Clams

SOUP

Chicken or Vegetable

ENTREES

Roast Spring Chicken

Boiled Potato

MIXED SALAD

DESSERT

Rice Pudding or Ice Cream

Coffee

Grape Juice

There was a conspicuous feeling of close-drawn fellowship and mutual self help among the gathering. Mr. Jacques Alexander acted as toastmaster and acquitted himself nobly. Among the short speeches were those of Mr. Hodgson, whose ruddy face has missed only one banquet of the society—that due to severe illness; Mr. Fogarty, Mr. Carpenter, Mr. Hitchcock, Mrs. Barnes, Mr. Weinstein, and lastly Mr. Fetscher, president of the society, who touchingly told of its history and growth until today it has some sixty members in New York, some twenty international members of high attainments and twenty honorary members, all of whom have done something above and beyond the usual. There are over two hundred associate members. Thus, a little idea and an ideal grew. Below is a list of officers:

OFFICERS

CHARLES W. FETSCHER, President
J. NESGODO, Vice-President
VICTOR ANDERSON, Secretary
H. C. BOKSTRAND, Treasurer

BOARD OF TRUSTEES

JACQUES ALEXANDER, Chairman
ADRIENNE FOUSSADIER
RUBY ABRAMS

To the members of the groups who were too far away to attend the home group dinner, to each and every one of you let it be said: "You were remembered. A greeting is sent. A handclasp of fellowship is extended and the menu booklet is speeding on its way to you."

XAVIER EPHPHETA SOCIETY NOTES

March's first Sunday was a genuinely "wet" day. But the attendance at the Xavier Ephpheta Society's monthly meeting was decidedly on the increase, despite the soginess of the atmosphere outside. The young element predominated. It would take a just-graduated school youth or miss to comment on the identity of those present.

Rev. Father Egan, S. J., in a sermon on the obligations of all Catholics at Easter time, urged that all the Catholic deaf comply with their duty. Mr. Julius Kieckers recited the prayer, preceding and following the sermon.

At the business session following, in the assembly room adjoining the chapel, a lively budget of topics was discussed. President Fives showed up in the nick of time to open the meeting. It developed a cool hundred had been handed over by Treasurer Lamberson at the February meeting to keep company with the nineteen hundred other dollars to the credit of the X. E. S. An emergency fund of "75 bucks," as Jimmy Lonergan intimated, was held as a reserve fund to meet current needs.

President Fives had reason to predict progress and prosperity ahead of the organization, which celebrates its twenty-fifth anniversary this year. He urged enrollment of dues-paying members.

Chairman Kieckers reported for the recent Chinese Revel. Around $75 was realized, and Jutes and his aides on the committee were thanked as right jolly good patriots.

Miss Mae Austra was made "Leader" of an "Indoor Lawn Party," to be staged on April 23d. Advance reports indicate Leader Austra has a big supply of novelties up her sleeve for those attending at the lawn fete. Aiding her will be Mrs. Chris McNally, Mrs. Julius Kieckers, Miss Kate Lamberson and Joseph Graham, James Lonergan, Julius Kieckers, J. F. O'Brien. The affair will transpire on the greensward of Xavier Parochial School Hall. See advertisement.

Aside from the delegates and alternates chosen by the metropolitan district Frat organizations, there will be others from New York to attend the Denver convention of the National Fraternal Society, but as yet it is too early to say who they will be. Several expect to attend via autos, thus cutting down expenses and at the same time seeing something of America. Mr. Alex L. Pach, who expects to go by train, is arranging a fine route, which after the convention will travel from Denver to California by autos. This will be the best and longest vacation for Photographer Pach, and he is looking forward to it with much pleasure.

A postal from Bermuda reached the JOURNAL office, on Monday, the 7th, from Editor Hodgson, who sailed from New York a week previous, for a month's cruise among the West Indies, on the Canadian Pacific steamer, "Montroyal." Mr. Sylvester Fogarty and Henry Kohlman accompany him.

Bearing the same postmark, the same date, coming on the same steamer, perhaps mailed at the same time, there also came on the same day, another postal from Bermuda, addressed to Mr. Hodgson, himself, from Hugh Conley Seward, with the information that he was down there for recuperation after three month's illness. It may be that the twain have run into each other by now and remarked on the "smallness of the world."

The newest addition to New York's list of organizations, the Metropolitan Association of the Clarke School Alumni, held its first annual banquet at the Hotel Marcellies, Broadway and 103rd Street, on Saturday evening, February 26th, with thirty-four members and guests in attendance. Alvah D. Young was chairman of the committee arranging the affair, assisted by Harry Stein and Mrs. James R. Gooding. Dancing and bridge were enjoyed after full justice had been done to an excellent repast, accompanied by the usual speeches, all delivered orally. The officers are Carl Underwood, president; Harry Stein, vice-president; Frank Arken, treasurer, and Mrs. Waldo Ries, secretary.

The mother of Keith Watt Morris died on Tuesday morning, March 1st, after a short illness. The funeral was private at the Church of St. Mary the Virgin. She was well known to many of the deaf—a woman of striking personality and always happy to entertain Keith's friends. The sympathy of all go to Mr. Morris in his sad bereavement.

Mr. Gibson MacConnell, of Poughkeepsie, N. Y., an old-time graduate of Fanwood, passed away Wednesday morning, March 2d, at the Vassar Hospital. He had been sick for a long time. The funeral was private. He is survived by his wife, who was Miss Annie L. Waidler, also from Fanwood; three daughters and two sons.

The father of Bernard Siegel, of New Rochelle, N. Y., died on March 1st, at the age of seventy-eight. He had been sick for several months.

The Owl Silenty Association will have a Nut Nostalgia Party at Johnson Building, 8 Nevins Street, Brooklyn, N. Y., on Saturday March 19th, 1927, 8 P.M.

Mr. and Mrs. Ludwig Fischer returned from their stay at Atlantic City N. J., last Friday. Ludwig looks fine, and says he feels fine, so his stay in the Jersey resort was of benefit to him.

The Fanwood Alumni Association will hold a regular session at the Fanwood School, on Saturday evening, March 12th.

Mr. Max Miller was not operated on as reported last week. His Boston doctor declared there was no need for it. He returned to his New York home with Mrs. Miller, on Sunday, and several of his friends who saw him say he is looking fine.

FANWOOD.

Mr. Edwin A Hodgson, editor of the JOURNAL, is now taking his vacation, on a cruise to the West Indies. He will be gone for a month. Last Monday, he came to the printing office to bid good-bye to the boys before going away. It happened to be his birthday, and everybody congratulated him.

The Fanwood basketball team has won six games and lost eight games. Below shows the games which Fanwood has played.

Fanwood team closed its basketball season last Saturday, and many pupils are going to begin their practice for track and baseball now.

An exciting basketball game of the tournament on our court was won by "Herbie," by the score of 14-8. The losing team was "Otto." The line up:—

Otto (8) Positions HERBIE (14)
Goodhope R. F. Koplowitz
Prevete L. F. Carroll (capt.)
Johnson (capt.) C. LaBarca
Ponessa R. G. Heintz
Scofield L. G. Kalmanowitz

Field goals—Heintz 3, Carroll 2, Goodhope 1, Prevete 1, Johnson 1. Foul goals—Carroll 2, Johnson 2, Heintz 1, Kalmanowitz 1. Referee—F. Lux. Scorer—A. Hiron. Timer—H. Rubstein.

On Wednesday, the second day of this month, Mr. Edwin Gould treated the pupils above the fifth grades to another entertainment by inviting them to see the wonderful show, "The Big Parade," at the Astor Theatre. On their way to the theatre from the Institution, they rode in two special busses, which Mr. Gould himself hired for them. All enjoyed the treat immensely. Mr. Gould is one of the members of the Board of Directors.

The scheduled basketball game between the Fanwood Alumni and the Barrager quintettes is postponed to the 19th of March instead of March 12th.

The Barrager basketball team played a return game with the Seudder School on the latter's court on Monday, March 7th, and were defeated by the score of 21 to 10.

Mr. Irving Epstein, a graduate of 1926, was a visitor here on Sunday, as was Mr. Gilbert Lind, a former pupil of Fanwood.

On Thursday evening, March 3d, before the Fanwood Literary Association, an interesting program was given in the chapel by the Seventh A2 grade, taught by Mrs. Clarke. The debate was won by the negative side by 3 to 1 points. Following is the program:—

February's Contributions to our Profit and Pleasure. Mrs. Clarke.

Ground Hog Day.
Valentine's Birthday.
Other Notable Birthdays.

THE JAPANESE

You must judge whether or not a nation is civilized, not by your likes and dislikes, not by your fears nor your politics, but by certain definite standards, writes Dr. Frank Crane. I find the cleanest list of these standards indicated in the Billings lectures delivered by Dr. Jabez T. Sunderland. I will follow his order.

The first mark of civilization is public order. No civilization is possible without a general obedience to law on the part of the people. All authorities agree that there is no nation in the world where public order is better maintained than in Japan.

The next test is the spread of general intelligence and education. Every child in Japan from 6 to 14 years old is in school. Dr. Eliot, of Harvard, said that Japan spends a far larger proportion of its money for education than the United States does, and has reached a higher standard.

Japan is full of newspapers and periodicals. Some newspapers have a daily circulation of 250,000. Everybody, from the highest class to the lowest, reads.

There is as much political freedom, as much freedom of the press and of speech in Japan as in England. It has a constitution and representative government.

Civilization is tested by the degree to which a nation has turned from superstition to science. Japanese have as keen a zest for science as any other people. Her students are in universities all over the world, and many of its citizens have made their mark in original scientific research.

Art is highly developed among the Japanese. They are a nation of idealists, not materialists. Lafcadio Hearn said that Japanese art was a hundred years ahead of western art.

The Japanese have long passed the period of slavish copying, their thought is of mystical significance and symbolic suggestion, rather than of photographic reproduction.

They do some of the most elaborate wood carving in the world, also inlaving with gold and silver, the making of fine pottery, also incomparable lacquer work, and no nation surpasses Japan in the art of landscape gardening.

In navigation, Japan ranks with the foremost nations of the world. Her battleships and ocean liners are as good as any.

Scientific agriculture is taught extensively. They have two university colleges of agriculture, five higher agricultural schools, and about 200 institutions of the same kind of lower grade.

Japan has a well developed and smooth running system of railroads. Her mail service, telegraphs and telephones, are good and extensive.

The Japanese are probably the cleanest people in the world, both as to their houses and to their person. They have excellent sanitary laws, which are strictly enforced. Medical, surgical, and hospital conditions are of the very best.

Temperance is a mark of civilization. The Japanese are more temperate than even America under prohibition, and far more so than the people of Great Britain or Germany.

Crimes of violence are fewer than in the United States and in most of the countries of Europe. Nothing in Japan is so horrible as the Inychings in the United States.

The rumor has been widely circulated that the Chinese are more honest than the Japanese, so that Japanese banks have to have Chinese cashiers. This story is absolutely false. There are more than 2,300 Japanese banks in Japan, and not one of them employs a Chinese cashier or general manager.

If you think that Japan is uncivilized, it is about time to think again.

INSURANCE WILL MAKE YOU SAVE.

How about a little Life Insurance? You know, the kind that comes back to you. You see, you place yourself under obligation for a small amount each year, which you hardly miss from your income, and after the policy is started, you hate to give it up. First thing you know you've got a bank-roll that never would have existed for you in any way.

And think of the protection you've been getting all the while!

No discrimination against deaf-mutes.

No charge for medical examination.
